Mr. Whiteman, of Whiteman & Phelps, importers of woollens and cottons, at 60-3 Leonard street, took a conservative view of the situation. He said business was above the average for the past few years, yet it still lacked the snap of several years ago. It had a healthy tone, though, and he thought that dealers generally were gaining confidence, which is an exceedingly good symptom.

At Faulkner, Page & Co's, importers of the first of the bolding trade, it was attached the shown as a very good, and that Jobbers who as as very good, and that Jobbers who as as very good, and that Jobbers who as savery good, and that grocers, as a rule, keep a certain a smount of stock on hand. It did not take him long to explode the story, the only foundation for which was the fact that some of the clerks had shown favoritism to certain horses. Even this the collector said would have to be stopped, or the offending clerks would find themselves without a job.

Cashier W. L. Bostwick, who is in charge of Uncle Sam's strong boxes in the Custom-House, says he is fast becoming stoop-shouldered from the weight of his responsibility.

The gentlemen of lelaure who ramble about City Hall Park and other exclusive places might be interested in knowing that on Tuesday ast Cashier Hostmer took in the tidy sum of $513,441.71, which was followed the next day by $505,584.44. Yesterday's receipts were $537,842.65, or a grand total for the three days of $2,197,870.16.

The city contains more out-of-town buyers than at any one time for years. The hoteis are filled to overflowing, and in the wholesale district an air of prosperity prevails. This is due to the relief from the suspense regarding the tariff.

Mr. Lauterbach did not answer, but it was understood this morning that he would demand that Mr. Lewis be brought before the bar of the Convention.

As soon as the prayer was over, Mr. Lewis obtained recognition and said: "In conversation with Mr. Lauterbach, of New York, shortly after the adjournment of yesterday afternoon's session, and while still within this chamber, laboring under great excitement, I used language which, hasty and ill-considered as it was, under the peculiar circumstances surrounding the incident, has, I believe, received a construction different from anything intended by me.

"I regret the use of those words, and now desire to withdraw them and to render to Mr. Lauterbach my sincere apology. The Campania experienced dense fog on the banks for nine hours, and was forced to run at a greatly reduced speed. It is calculated that not less than sixty miles were lost, owing to these unfavorable conditions.

According to her log, the steamer's run was up to noon, Aug. 25, 466 knots, and sally thereafter 513, 404, 511, 506 and 365 knots to Daunt's Rock.

The average speed attained was 21.50 knots, which has only twice been beaten, on both occasions by the Lacanta, when in March of this year she covered 21.74 knots, and in June of this year, when the average was 21.89.

MARKET FIRM, BUT QUIET.

Prices Advance Fractionally. The Wall street markets were quiet again this morning. While there were no very wide fluctuations in prices there is still evident an undertone of strength, and growing confidence on the part of the investing public.

If this were not the case the market would drop under all the talk about the partial fallure of the corn crop. While this will be disastrous to certain sections of the West, it is thought that the losses will be outweighed by the signs of returning prosperity in the South and elsewhere.

Railroad earnings generally are improving and a heavy Fall and Winter business is looked for. Hence, the increasing demand for securities and the stronger backing of the market by the speculative contingent.

Bergmann Inquest. CLIFTON, S. I., Aug. 31.—The inquest into the death of Frederick Bergmann, who, it is alleged, was killed by means of a gun placed over the door in the house of old Tom Burke, at South Beach, going off when the door was opened, will be continued to-night. Old Tom Burke, who is accused of placing the gun over the door in order that it would kill Bergmann, will be represented at the hearing by Lawyer Bruce, who is associated with Lawyer William M. Mullen. Bergmann was a son-in-law of Burke's, and they lived in the same house. It is alleged they quarrelled, and Burke fixed the gun out of spite.

At the last hearing Mrs. Margaret Bergmann, the mother of the dead man, became excited and denounced Burke as the murderer of her son. Burke was cheerful until Mrs. Bergmann spoke, but after that hung his head.

The Fair has purchased the entire stock of Lichtenstein's big store, and since Alonday the good things have been sought after by knowing buyers. Ladles' coats, of disgonal, cheviot and Vicuna cloths, in black, blue and tan; underwear, laces, linens, tollet articles and men's furnishings are all there at prices away below what they are worth. It's necessary to make room for The Fair's own attock, so everything must be gotten out of the way as soon as possible.
